JWH Design

A mother of five, a contractor and the designer/owner of JWH Design and Cabinetry, Jennifer Howard jumped at the opportunity to purchase the circa 1800s home just next door to where she grew up. Working with cobbled spaces from previous renovations, Jennifer incorporated an adjacent breakfast room and laundry room to create an expansive, yet warm and family-friendly kitchen.

Custom cabinetry, of her own design, employs elements of tradition in the form of inset cabinets with exposed hinges and a white brushstroke finish, to keep the room in character with the home's age. Perfect still for modern living, the design maximizes storage space and allows everyone in the family, from the smallest to the tallest, to participate in mealtime activities.
